POLICY RESPONSES TO AGEING AND ETHNIC ISSUES

- The New Zealand Positive Ageing Strategy: “where people can age positively, where older people are highly valued and where they are recognised as an integral part of families and communities” (Ministry of Social Policy, 2001, p. 13).
- Ageing in Place: “people’s ability to make choices in later life about where to live, and receive the support to do so” (Ministry of Social Policy, 2001, p. 10).
- The Health of Older People Strategy : Calls for health-related services to be coordinated with housing services (Associate Minister of Health and Minister for Disability Issues, 2002) .
- The New Zealand Housing Strategy : formulates goals in relation to older people’s living arrangements (Housing New Zealand Corporation, 2005) .

- “Ageing in place” policies have a limited ability to moderate the effects of an ethnic ageing population.
- “Ageing in place” policies over-idealise older people from ethnic communities which can lead to an over-emphasis on the family as “the saviour” of older adults.

“Chinese family look after their own” ???

“Chinese families are tightly knit” ????

LITERATURE REVIEW: PLACE AND AGEING

- Place as Social and Cultural Construct
- Place as Marker of Experiences
- Place as Process Reflecting Evolving and Embodied Identity
- Place as Intersection of Self, Others and Environment

The only human can be humans is to be “in place” (Relph 1976) .

“To age” is “to age in place”.
